DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to the amendment filed 4/21/2003.
2. Claims 1-17, and 19-21 have been examined and are pending in the application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 8-9 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hao U.S Patent No. 5,844,553.

As to claim 8, Hao discloses transmitting events to be shared from the local application (113 to 112, Fig. 2), a local application sharing logic configured to receive the events (input events going from 112 to 115, Fig. 2), generate echo events (private events, line 52 column 6), insert the echo events with the events to be shared (lines 51-58 column 6) and transmit them (input events going to 122, Fig. 2) to a remote application (122, Fig. 2).

As to claim 9, Hao further discloses the local application sharing logic receives the echo events and pace the transmission the events in accordance with an echo delay (analyzing the captured input events...to the target application, lines 65-67 column 6).

Art Unit: 2126

As to claims 1 and 15, note the discussion of claim 8 above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 2-3, 10 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hao in view of Stumm U.S Patent No. 5,768,528.

As to claim 10, Hao does not explicitly teach transmitting event at predetermined interval. Stumm discloses a client and server system in which information is transmitted at predetermined interval (providers transmit desired data to their targeted customers at predetermined interval lines 44-45 column 1). It would have been obvious to apply the teachings of Stumm to the system of Hao because this allows the intended information to be received at the right time as disclosed by Stumm (lines 35-41 column 1). Hao as modified by Stumm would have a local application transfer event to a remote application at predetermined interval.

As to claim 2, note the discussion of claim 10 above.

As to claim 3, Hao as modified further teaches receiving echo events (going from 115 to 122, Fig. 2); transmitting echo events to the remote application (123, Fig. 2).

As to claim 16, note the discussion of claim 10 above.

Art Unit: 2126

5. Claims 4-7, 11-14, 17 and 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hao in view of Othmer U.S Patent No. 6,167,358.

As to claim 11, Hao does not explicitly teach the delay comprises a different between the receive time and transmit time. Othmer teaches a server monitor the performance of clients processing (generate statistics about the frequency of each problem, lines 43-65 column 2). It would have been obvious to apply the teachings of Othmer to the system of Hao because this allows the server to detect defects of client processes as disclosed by Othmer, lines 30-42 column 2).

As to claim 12, Othmer further discloses generating a warning message (accumulated information, lines 46 column 2).

As to claim 13, Othmer further discloses forwarding the warning message to the local application (transfer the accumulated information back to server, lines 46 column 2).

As to claim 14, Hao as modified further discloses a meter (116 and 117, Fig. 2).

As to claims 4-6, note the discussions of claims 11-12 and 14 above, respectively.

As to claim 7, Hao as modified further discloses utilizing color to indicate status (GUI, line 49 column 4).

As to claim 17, note the discussion of claim 11 above.

As to claim 19, note the discussions of claims 12-13 above.

As to claim 20, note the discussion of claim 14 above.

As to claim 21, note the discussion of claim 7 above.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argued that Hao reference does not teach, "pace the transmission...echo event transmit time", "transmit said events...echo events to a remote application", and "means for pacing...from said echo events" (Remarks, last paragraphs of pages 9-11). In response, the applicant argued limitations that are not claimed before. However, these limitations are still met by cited reference as disclosed in the claim rejections above.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
